Course Overview

Goals are the roadmap of performance, but without precision, they become a source of frustration. This session elevates goal-setting from a clerical task to a strategic discipline. Participants will master the art of crafting "pressure-tested" SMART goals that provide absolute clarity and accountability. We dive deep into the science of KPI development, learning to translate vague job descriptions into measurable, high-impact performance criteria. By mastering the technique of cascading goals, coaches ensure that every individual effort is directly contributing to the organization's highest strategic priorities.
